

Pray for the Church

Pastor Moussa shared his heart and vision for the church when we met today. He loves Jesus and spoke of his desire to have the church understand their close relationship with Christ as His spouse. His teaching shows his love for God's Word and his desire to disciple believers to maturity in Christ. In the picture above he's joyfully leading the congregation to memorize the verse of the day, which he reviews the following week.

Moussa, his wife and four children moved to Niamey from Mali about a month ago. They have no family here, only a few friends from when he came for an internship a number of years ago. He stayed with Dennis & Dorrie Hansen for a while, who were the first team leaders for the C&MA in Niger. His wife left a good job in Mali, and private schooling for his children was less expensive in Mali than here, along with many costs of daily living.

As you pray for your fellow brothers and sisters to grow in Christ, please also pray with us for the brothers and sisters at the Riyad Church in Niamey, and for Moussa and his family as they adjust to living in Niamey. This church has gone through many challenges the past year, with questions around finances and the treasurer, and the former pastor's wife declaring that she has returned to Islam. We pray that we would be an encouragement in Christ to the faithful who remain.

Thank you for your fellowship from afar in praying for brothers and sisters in Niger.
Ace, for Cecilia too.
