

International Christmas

Christmas celebrations at the local church we attend included reflecting on the significance of Christ's birth, presentations from different ethnic groups, and eating together on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Church members are from Mali and Niger, and come from different ethnic backgrounds, including the Bobo from Mali, and Gourmantche, Fulani and Tuareg in Niger. It was a good time to celebrate together, as Tuareg believers from out of town and other churches attended, along with some seekers.

We thank God for the fellowship among church members and their hospitality to Tuaregs who attended. This church seems to be a sort of home for Tuareg believers if they were to have one. We pray with Jesus our Lord that the believers would be made completely one with God the Father and the Son, and for all who will believe in Christ, including the Christmas guests and guests to come.

Thank you for celebrating and praying with us.
Ace & Cecilia.
